

1

ABSTRACT OF DISCLOSURE

2

A tail pipe of an automotive exhaust system includes an ornamental element bearing or in the form of a symbol located at or near an outer end through which exhaust gas exits. The ornamental element is sized to provide a sufficient space to allow the exhaust gas to flow substantially unimpeded past the ornamental element and is mounted to rotate as the gas impinges against it.